DEAR YALE TRAVELER

The legacy of great performances is alive and well at Yale where a passion for drama is in our DNA. I invite you to renew and indulge your own love of the theater with us this August, on a nine-day excursion into the internationally renowned Stratford and Shaw Festivals. We’ll be joined by retired Yale Professor Murray Biggs and Yale Professor Paul Walsh, who will personally curate a selection of plays meant to ignite your curiosity and expand your cultural horizons. Group discussions, unique visits, and field trips will examine symbolism, themes, characters, and so much more.

Cozy up at the historic Parlour Inn in downtown Stratford, Canada. Built in 1871, this hotel features modern amenities but holds true to its history and features beautiful woodwork, tin ceilings, and stained-glass windows. After the Parlour Inn, we are off to the Queen’s Landing hotel in Niagara-on-the-Lake. The Queen’s Landing is a Georgian style hotel boasting remarkable Venetian windows and panoramic views of the Niagara River. While in Stratford and Niagara-on-the-Lake you’ll have plenty of free time to explore both of these quintessential towns.

I’m delighted to extend this invitation to join us for this program created exclusively by Yale Educational Travel. You may secure your spot now by visiting, yaleedtravel.org/ontario19 or by calling us at (203) 432-1952.

Warmest wishes from Yale,

Lauren Summers
