October 18-26, 2018
Dear Yale Traveler

Join a small group of travelers for this unique opportunity to experience the authentic provincial character of Dordogne, a hidden treasure where all the delights of Southern France are distilled into one of Europe’s most beautiful and intact medieval villages, Sarlat-la-Canéda. Immerse yourself in the rich local culture and rhythms of daily life in the heart of this charming département, and learn more about the history of early humans who painted their stories on its cave walls, the largest concentration of prehistoric art in the world.

Our carefully designed itinerary and expert-guided excursions explore five impressive UNESCO World Heritage sites: the dramatic cliffside monastic village of Rocamadour; the important archaeological sites of L’Abri du Cap-Blanc, Rouffignac cave, and Les Eyzies-de-Tayac-Sireuil, and the prehistoric troglodyte village of La Madeleine. Visit the state-of-the-art, newly opened International Center for Cave Art at Lascaux to appreciate one of humankind’s earliest artistic creations. Exclusively arranged, enriching presentations and the forum with local residents provide personal perspectives on la vie in the villages of Dordogne.

Your “home,” ideally located in the quaint medieval village of Sarlat-la-Canéda, will be the family-owned Plaza Madeleine Hôtel, a restored 19th-century townhouse. This delightful hôtel de charme features an old-world ambiance with modern accommodations and amenities and is known for the warm hospitality of its staff. In addition to the included meals in the hotel, dine on regional specialties during traditional three-course dinners in specially selected French bistroes.

A Yale Week in Dordogne offers an enchanting educational travel experience at a great value—and you unpack only once! It is an exceedingly popular program, so I encourage you to book now while space is still available.

Join us for an intimate travel experience including exceptional accommodations, specially arranged meals, and all excursions—an excellent value at just the right pace. We encourage you to register at www.yaleedtravel.org/dordogne18. If you have any questions or need additional information please call 203-432-1952 or email edtravel@yale.edu.

ITINERARY

WELCOME CALL
Tuesday, October 9 (tentative)
Join the group at 4PM EST for a pre-trip welcome call with Professor Rod McIntosh to learn more about what to expect and to ask questions.

U.S.
Thursday, October 18
Depart the U.S. for Bordeaux, France.

BORDEAUX, FRANCE/
SARLAT-LA-CANÉDA
Friday, October 19
Upon arrival in Bordeaux, transfer through the scenic Dordogne region to Sarlat-la-Canéda and check in at the Plaza Madeleine Hôtel. Author Henry Miller called Sarlat “the Frenchman’s paradise.” Your charming “village home” is the pre-French Revolutionary capital of Périgord Noir, a lushly forested corner of the Aquitaine region, ideally located between the Dordogne and Vézère Rivers. It is a bon vivant’s dream, renowned for truffles, wild mushrooms, strawberries, walnuts and duck, and is close enough to Bordeaux to procure the finest wines directly from vintners’ cellars. Dinner is in the hotel this evening. (D)

SARLAT-LA-CANÉDA
Saturday, October 20
Sarlat has one of the greatest concentrations of medieval, Renaissance and 17th-century façades in Europe. The artful blend of flamboyant and subdued styles is most evident in the architecture of the townhouse of writer Étienne la Boétie. The heart of Sarlat is the Place de la Liberté, where every Wednesday and Saturday one of France’s most storied markets is held, a tradition dating from Saturday one of France’s most storied markets is held, a tradition dating from the Middle Ages. The afternoon offers an excellent opportunity to explore Sarlat’s legendary market. Attend the private Welcome Reception in the hotel this evening. (B,R)

SARLAT-LA-CANÉDA/
ROCAMADOUR/SOUILLAC
Sunday, October 21
Enjoy an excursion to Rocamadour, a fortified 13th-century village and UNESCO World Heritage site with one of the most dramatic settings of any village in the world, built on the face of a sheer 400-foot cliff. During the Middle Ages, pilgrims flocked here from across Europe to perform penance by ascending over 200 steps of the Grand Stairway on their knees to pay homage to the Virgin Mary and seek miracles from St. Amadour by visiting his crypt. Visit the quaint village of Souillac and its 12th-century Church of Sainte-Marie, a treasury of Romanesque statuary and carvings. (B,L)

Embedded in the cliff above the doorway to Rocamadour’s Chapelle de Notre Dame is a sword said to be that of the heroic knight Roland.

LES EYZIES-DE-TAYAC-SIREUIL/
L’ABRI DU CAP BLANC
Monday, October 22
Visit the Eyrignac Manor, designated a national monument. This 17th-century estate, located outside of Sarlat, has been the residence of the same family for over 500 years and 22 generations. Walk through what many consider the finest jardins (gardens) in all of France. Originally of 18th-century Italian design, the grounds were converted to an English-style, sculpted, coniferous garden and have been immaculately maintained and enhanced. Dordogne has the greatest concentration of prehistoric sites anywhere in the world. After lunch in the hotel, visit UNESCO World Heritage-designated Les Eyzies-de-Tayac, France’s capital of prehistoric humanity, where unprecedented fossils of Cro-Magnon man have been discovered. Approximately 35,000 years old, these fossils are some of the earliest known evidence of modern humans in Europe. A guided tour the National Museum of Prehistory, housed in a 16th-century castle, contextualizes the area’s cave paintings, fossils and early tools. See L’Abri du Cap Blanc’s UNESCO World Heritage-designated prehistoric cave friezes.

Meet local residents in the specially arranged forum and discuss life in southwestern provincial France. (B,L)

LASCAUX/ST-AMAND-DE-COLY
Tuesday, October 23
Enjoy a private, specially arranged presentation by a local expert on preserving the medieval architecture of Sarlat. Dordogne’s UNESCO World Heritage-designated limestone caves and rocky overhangs provided Ice Age man not only with shelter but also with a vast canvas for his extraordinary rock paintings. Today, extinct aurochs, wild stallions and antelopes painted between approximately 25,000 and 17,000 years ago still prance, preen and gallop before your eyes. The original Lascaux cave has been closed to the public since 1963 for preservation purposes; however, the new Lascaux museum, an exact and stunning replica, gives a truer representation of the exuberant colors that have faded in the original. Visit St-Amand-de-Coly, one of the most beautiful villages in France and picturesquely folded within Dordogne’s wooded countryside, is dominated by the fortified 13th-century...
Abbey Church, an unusual fusion of Romanesque and Gothic styles. Traces of the Hundred Years’ War remain in the ramparts and towers of the fortress-like church and the remnants of its abbey. (B,D)

ROUFFIGNAC/LA MADELEINE

Wednesday, October 24

The morning is at leisure to revisit Sarlat’s market. Afterwards, tour the authentic Rouffignac cave, an UNESCO World Heritage site that is known as “Cave of a Hundred Mammoths.” Marvel at the “giant kettles,” smooth, dome-like rock formations forged by swirling currents where you can view up-close the deft drawings of extinct animals covering the five-mile labyrinth of cavern walls. See the famous and impressive frieze of two bison about to engage each other in battle. Then, visit the prehistoric troglodyte village of La Madeleine. Carved beneath a cliff overlooking the serene Vézère River, UNESCO World Heritage-designated La Madeleine offers unique insight into the semi-nomadic Magdalenian culture, which prevailed in southern Europe from 15,000 to 9,000 B.C. (B,L,D)

SARLAT-LA-CANÉDA/ BORDEAUX/U.S.

Friday, October 26

Transfer to Bordeaux for your return flight to the U.S. (B)

Included meals indicated each day as B/L/R/D = Breakfast/Lunch/Reception/Dinner.

BEYNAC/DOMME

Thursday, October 25

Perched 500 feet above the Dordogne River and commanding a medieval village of golden stone houses tucked into the steep hillside, this masterpiece of medieval military engineering was once a stronghold of Richard the Lionheart. Traverse its elaborate series of surrounding stone walls, parapet walks, watchtowers and passageways to an impressive interior decorated with a magnificent 17th-century staircase and delicate 15th-century frescoes, including one of the Last Supper and a Pietà. Enjoy a private cruise on the tranquil Dordogne River aboard a traditional 19th-century gabare, followed by a lunch of Périgord specialties in a restaurant overlooking the river.

Among the “most beautiful villages” of France, Domme is an authentic medieval bastide, or fortified village. Enter through its original military ramparts and see graffiti etched by the 14th-century Knights Templar on the inner village walls. The beauty of the 13th- and 14th-century architecture of Domme is surpassed only by its exceptional views overlooking the Dordogne River. Return to the hotel for dinner this evening. (B,L,D)

ROD MCINTOSH

Roderick McIntosh is the J. Clayton Stephenson/Yale Class of 1954 Professor of Anthropology at Yale University and the Curator-in-Charge of the Anthropology Division at the Yale Peabody Museum as well as Honorary Distinguished Professor of Archaeology at the University of Pretoria (South Africa). He has been a Guggenheim Fellow, twice a Fulbright Senior Fellow (Senegal and Mali), and has held a fellowship at the Center for Advanced Study in the Behavioral Sciences (Stanford). Before returning to Yale in 2006, he taught at Rice University for more than twenty-five years.

A popular professor with students, Professor McIntosh as traveled extensively for Yale Educational Travel in Africa, the Mediterranean, and Dordogne, and visited nearly very cave with rock art open to the public in the Dordogne region. One of his proudest moments was “baptizing” his son in the Dordogne, a body of water sacred to archaeologists.

He boasts 35 years of fieldwork (excavations and surveys) in French-speaking Africa and the southern Sahara of Mali (around Timbuktu), Madagascar, and in the Middle Senegal Valley of northern Senegal. His major interests are in African and Old World comparative prehistory, intellectual history of prehistoric archaeology, ethnicity and specialization and the origin of authority in complex society, urbanism, geomorphology and paleoclimate, international art market, prehistoric symbols, and ideology. McIntosh was involved in the birthing of the first bi-lateral accord banning the import of antiquities into a “market” nation (USA) from a “source” nation (Mali).

CHRISTINE DESDEMAINES-HUGON

Christine Desdemaines-Hugon has worked with the scientific community, lectured on prehistoric art, and shared her knowledge and enthusiasm for the Dordogne region of France with visitors for 25 years. Her first visits to the caves of the Dordogne sparked a passion for the subject of Paleolithic art and she went on to earn a Diploma of Advanced Studies in Anthropology. Christine also wrote a book about the five major cave sites in the Dordogne and the evolution of Paleolithic cultures. She will guide our visits to L’Abrì du Cap-Blanc, Lascaux, Les Eyzies-de-Tayac-Sireuil, Rouffignac, and La Madeleine.
